About my Sound Kits

At RBM Sounds, my mission is to craft exceptional sound kits that inspire creativity. After years of collaborating with musicians and artists worldwide, I launched RBM Sounds to provide music producers with resources built on two core values: inspiration and quality.

As music producers, sometimes all it takes is hearing the right sound—a one-shot, a loop, or an intriguing melody—to ignite the spark for an entire track.

When I decided to officially launch RBM Sounds, I prioritized quality above all else. These sound kits feature recordings by talented musicians from around the globe, captured using top-of-the-line gear and instruments. Each kit is thoughtfully arranged and meticulously mixed in my Brooklyn studio.

These sound kits are more than just collections of .wav files—they are crafted with care and passion. Every loop, one-shot, and sample has been produced with the utmost professionalism by myself and a small team of dedicated musicians. Collaboration has been the cornerstone of these debut kits. Together, we created these musical building blocks with cohesion and a deep appreciation for the art. The greatest honor is seeing our creations come alive in your productions.

Above all, RBM sound kits are designed to work seamlessly together. Like a set of musical Legos, these loops and hits were created with intentionality—to sound incredible when combined. Whether manipulated or used as-is, the samples are highly versatile and pair effortlessly with others in the collection.
